

The Board of the Association for European Life Science Universities (ICA)

is searching for

ICA Secretary General (0.6 FTE)

ICA, established in 1988, is the Association for European Life Science Universities www.ica-europe.info. Its members are more than 50 higher-education institutions from almost all European countries in the domain of sustainable bio-economy and society (encompassing agriculture, forestry, food production and consumption, natural resources, the bio-based sector, biodiversity, the protection of the environment, and rural development). The Association, is led by an elected Board, includes three Board Committees and eight independent ICA Standing Committees.

ICA's mission is to strengthen and promote European life science universities by:

1. supporting and enhancing their education, research and innovation,
2. providing them with platforms for cooperation, joint learning, as well as for sharing experiences and understanding,
3. representing and engaging its members with European institutions and networks,
4. making the knowledge and experts of member institutions available for European and global transitioning to a sustainable bio-economy and society.

In 2021 ICA renewed its strategy with the goal of enhancing collaboration among its members and focussing on engaging with the EU and European institutions. With this strategy the secretariat, which is currently run by 0.3 FTE position, will be enlarged to ensure a successful implementation. Based on these goals, the position of the "ICA Secretary General" was defined and is waiting to be filled with this announcement.

Job description

The Secretary General leads the ICA secretariat and supports the ICA Board and committees focussing on:
